Rollerblading for H.O.P.E.

by Elaine Wilson
Review writer

Edward Zaharichuk is a man who literally received a second chance at life- and he doesn't take one second of the gift of life for granted.

A lifelong Alberta resident, Zaharichuk underwent a successful heart transplant in late 1994. Having had to wait a considerable period of time before a suitable donor was located, he is acutely aware of the need to increase public awareness of human organ donor requirements.

The path he chose to emphasize this need turned out to be the number two highway between his home town of Edmonton and his destination- Calgary. His plan was to skate from Edmonton to Calgary to raise awareness of the crucial need for organ donations. On October 10, Zaharichuk strapped on a pair of rollerblades and skated out of the University of Edmonton parking lot trailed by his Human Organ Procurement and Exchange [H.O.P.E.] travelling 'pit crew' as they wound their way south, with stopping points at sites along the route. The journey ended Oct. 20 in Calgary where he was met by a contingent of well-wishers at the conclusion of his trek to Calgary.

The H.O.P.E. team arrived in Didsbury the evening of Oct. 19. On Thursday morning a group local residents including representatives from the local health region, town council and Didsbury High School gathered in the Didsbury hospital foyer to hear him speak and shake his hand.

A letter from minister Shirley McLellan expressing support for his efforts was read aloud, eliciting a quip from Zaharichuk.

"When I hear the name Shirley McLellan I always think of cutbacks. Initially I asked at the opening conference for her to cut back the distance between Edmonton and Calgary, but as it turned out, I'm glad she couldn't cut it back, because I'm finding the trip quite enjoyable- it wasn't as difficult as I'd originally thought it would be."

Zaharichuk got the go-ahead from his doctors before embarking on a training program to prepare him for his rollerblading expedition, and offered praise to the H.O.P.E. contingent for helping make the journey a reality.

Another H.O.P.E. booster on hand for the ceremony was local kidney transplant recipient John Overwater.

"I am a really strong supporter of H.O.P.E., and any organization that supports organ transplant efforts." Overwater said. "When I talk about the level of improvement of quality of life, it almost brings tears to my eyes. After spending the better part of 15 years on a dialysis machine, I can tell you first hand how my life has changed for the better over the last year and a half since having a kidney transplant operation."

Overwater paused and looked at those gathered around him before concluding with the following exhortation: "Please, please, please- support the H.O.P.E. program. Sign your donor card. But most importantly, make sure your

ENVIRONMENT TIPS

South facing windows, combined with circulation fans, can move solar-heated air through the house, so you buy less heat. Reliable, continuous and balanced ventilation reduces excess humidity and indoor pollution. A recommended approach in Canada is to install an air-to-air heat exchanger, which sucks in fresh air while transferring 50 to 80 percent of the heat from exhausted air.

Train collision claims two

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Two people were killed last week when their car was broadsided by a train north of Olds.

Carol Donald, age 33, and Troy Cleasby, age 23, were killed instantly when their car was hit by a CP Rail train at a crossing approximately six miles north of Olds.

Olds RCMP said the accident occurred about 5 pm on October 17. Alcohol does not appear to be a factor in the accident and road conditions were clear at the time of the collision.

Guilty plea overturned

A Didsbury Provincial Court judge threw out a man's plea of guilty last week when he tried to explain his side of the story regarding an assault charge.

Kelly Matthew Janzen said he admits to hitting the victim but said he did it out of self defence during an argument over erratic driving.

The judge, who had initially accepted Janzen's guilty plea, told Janzen the case would have to go to trial if he felt he acted in self defence.

Janzen will re-appear on the charge on November 15 to set the trial date.

Fine for possession

An Olds man was fined $300 after pleading guilty to possession of a narcotic.

Shayne Brian Leach faced a jail sentence for the charge, which was laid after RCMP stopped a truck he was riding in and discovered a 220g plastic bag of marijuana. Leach claimed ownership of the drug.

The prosecutor called for a jail term for Leach after reviewing a lengthy related record but the judge chose to levy a substantial $400 fine after Leach told him he was enrolled in Olds College and supporting an expectant wife.

Assault nets fine

A Caroline man who avoided facing an assault charge for nine months was fined $500 last week.

Paul Edward Diesel was charged with assaulting his common law wife last December and then failed to appear on the charge last January. He was arrested by RCMP earlier this month.

Diesel pleaded guilty both to the assault and failing to appear. When the judge told him he faced jail for the assault, which was the second he admitted against his common-law, Diesel said he also suffered broken ribs in the altercation.

Diesel was fined $500 for the assault, $50 for the failure to appear and was granted six months to pay.

Taylor takes mayor's chair in Olds

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Former RCMP Sergeant Al Taylor won the race for the mayor's chair in Olds last week.

Taylor beat his rival - former town councillor Gary Spurrell - 969 votes to 625 or 61 per cent to 39 percent.

Taylor, who retired from the RCMP in the late 1980s, replaces long time mayor Bob Armstrong who chose not to seek re-election.

In the Olds town council race, only two familiar faces were returned to their chairs. Bill Edgar and Art Rowland were the only two incumbents of four who sought re-election. Jim Spicer and Glenn Elmer lost out in the ballot count.

Four new faces will grace the councillor's table for the next three years - Don Fritz, Kris Bodja, Arvin Bull and Richard Bodnar.

Wilson returned to office in Carstairs

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

A challenge for the mayor's chair by Fred Denischuk failed last week when Carstairs voters returned Bob Wilson to the job.

Wilson, who sat as mayor for the past three years, defeated Denischuk 300 to 183 voted or 38 percent to 62 percent.

The Carstairs mayors race was the only election race in Carstairs for this municipal election. Six councillor's who make up the rest of Carstairs' town council were all acclaimed. Richard Dais, Rick Blair, Bill Dallas, Bob Steward, Ann Strilchuk and Arlene Wilde were the only candidates to run.

One incumbent returned in Cremona

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Only one incumbent from the former Cremona village council was returned to office after the ballots were counted last week.

Ernie Bradley was the only councillor to return to office. As mayor for the past two and a half years, Bradley was returned to office with the second largest percentage of the vote - 62 percent.

Newcomer Arlene Black garnered the highest percentage from the voters - 75 percent.

Cremona residents had a tough job to choose between candidates since this election spawned one of the largest slates of candidates ever. Seven nominees vied for the job including two incumbents who were not returned to office, Bert Seehawer and Jamie Roberts.

family is aware of what your intentions are so there is no confusion when the time comes."

Gail Weaver, Transplant Coordinator for the H.O.P.E. program echoed Overwater's appeal as she stepped forward to address those gathered.

She asked how many were aware that the organ and tissue donation card was no longer located on the back of new driver's licences, but was now located on the reverse side of Alberta Health Care cards.

"You'd be surprised how many people don't know that," she said.

She went on to explain that the body of the deceased is the legal responsibility of the next of kin. Permission must still be granted by next of kin, even when a donor card is signed, so she said it was very important that the matter be discussed with family members to help them make difficult decisions when time suddenly became a critical factor. The stress level regarding the organ donation decision is almost invariably significant, as prospective donors almost without exception die following a tragic circumstance, following an acute brain injury. When an accident resulting in irreversible brain damage occurs, the body ceases to function soon afterward. Organ donation becomes viable after brain death has occurred, but before the heart stops beating, and before damage to other organs occurs.

Statistics compiled to December of 1994 show that the number of Canadians waiting for transplant organs totalled 2,091. The total in Alberta alone was 196. During that same year, the number of Canadians who died waiting for a transplant totalled 138.

Stepping up to an over-sized display of a donor card, Zaharichuk explained the various sections, and then turned to face his audience before preparing to depart.

"Think about it," he said. "All you have to do is talk it over with your family, sign it, and have it witnessed. The same year I received my heart there were 22 Albertans who lost their lives, waiting."

Voter turn out

Many communities recorded very low voter turn out and in our area Sundre and the school board saw a smaller than average ballot count. Most other communities saw the average voter turn out.

Here are the percentages of voter turn out in each jurisdiction.

Didsbury	-	1,074/ 2,368 eligible	-	45%
Olds	-	1,594/ 3,902 eligible	-	41%
Carstairs	-	484/ 1,100 eligible	-	44%
Cremona	-	136/ 280 eligible	-	49%
Sundre	-	463/ 1,450 eligible	-	32%
Chinook's Edge	-	5,538/23,900 eligible	-	23%

County of Mountain View said they could not calculate percentages because they do not keep eligible voter records. Returning officer Frank Dawley did say the number of ballots cast did come close to those numbers in the past two elections.

Left purpose

Janice Harrington

While I have never been a political supporter of the NDP, I did watch their recent leadership race with great interest.

The interest had nothing to do with their viability for leading the country as the next government but rather over their role in shaping the country's agenda.

Over the past five years, Canadian politics has taken a severe turn to the right thanks to the ministrations of the Reform Party. If nothing else, this party has been very good at attracting media and shifting the country's attention to the issues on the right side of the spectrum. As an example, if the Reformers hadn't started pushing the deficit question, would we be undergoing such massive budget cuts all across Canada? Highly unlikely. As a result of the attention and the downturn in the economy which has left most Canadians looking out for number one, politic life has made a sharp curve to the right, focusing on financial issues like taxation and budgeting. From New Brunswick to Saskatchewan, each province has made their own attempts to balance the budget. The federal Liberals were elected on a Red Book promise to reduce the deficit and cut down the debt. These issues have had serious significance in each election and have topped the list of voter concerns.

So what, you may ask, does the NDP have to do with these issues, considering their ideology of spending to bring prosperity and happiness to the Canadian public? They are the only viable alternative we have to the massive rush to the right endemic in federal politics today. As a result of the Reform Party's attention grabbing style, federal parties are running over each other in the effort to create policy which suits the current right leaning attitudes of the vocal Canadian electorate. Both the Liberals, the Conservatives and the Reform Party have outlined ideas for policy which basically say the same thing - cut, cut, cut, reduce transfers, let Canadians as individuals foot more of the bill. It is a short term benefit solution but one which seems to make the voters happy. You just have to look at Ralph Klein's Alberta to get a view of that. Even governments in traditionally socialist provinces (like Manitoba where I am currently on holiday) are planning massive layoffs in an attempt to appease these right leaning attitudes.

The NDP are the only really acceptable alternative to that shift to the right. They present the opportunity for challenge to the other major parties who are currently directing the national agenda. Hence the reason for the interest.

Lorne Nystrom promised to push the NDP into the mainstream if elected. Translation - he would bring economic issues to the forefront of the party's agenda. Svend Robinson, on the other hand, promised to stay true to his socialist ideals. For me though, Alexa McDonough was the unknown factor. Regardless of whether or not I could ever consider supporting the NDP, I was footing for Svend. In my view, he was the only candidate with enough gumption to pull the NDP back into the limelight, like in the old Ed Schreyer days and make the NDP agenda part of the national discussion. He was the one who would present the other side of the coin to the voters, show them the human side of the numbers and give the media some left leaning sound bites to chew on while the right side continued their diatribes. Balance is the key to any healthy government - hence the official opposition idea - and lately we haven't had much of that.

But instead of Svend, the man with the personality to pull it off, we get the unknown - McDonough. Now we have to wait and see what kind of a leader she will be. It is my hope she can grab the attention like Robinson because it is past time Canadians heard both sides of the story again.

The public opinion

by Sheila Copps, Minister
Environment Canada

Canadians have a strong commitment and a strong attachment to the environment. It is a part of our heritage and a part of what we are.

During my time as Environment Minister, I have met some incredible people -- people who spend most of their waking hours working on environmental issues such as climate change, biodiversity, reducing toxics.

I have seen communities that have fought back against environmental degradation to accomplish great things. Communities that have restored waterways, reduced waste, protected wildlife habitat, created jobs and sparked fledgling industries.

Having seen many of these individuals and communities in action, I know that the real power to make change rests with individuals and communities across Canada.

Of course, governments and industry have a huge obligation to do a better job of protecting the environment -- but without the awareness, understanding and action we have in the neighborhoods of this country, we will never achieve our goal of becoming a sustainable society.

That's why I want to tell you about a new program that the federal government has just launched. It's called Action 21. We are keeping our Red Book commitment to give Canadians the tools to build environmental considerations into their daily lives.

Action 21 will help local groups turn plans for environmental improvements into action. Through a community funding initiative, we will support eligible projects that enhance, rehabilitate or protect the natural environment. Projects will require matching funds or in-kind support from other sponsors. The funding initiative will stress measurable environmental benefits and promote action on priorities like air pollution, climate change, biodiversity, toxic substances and ecosystem conservation.

The program will support only non-profit and non-governmental groups. We are aiming to give national support to service clubs, seniors' organizations, youth groups and environmental groups.

We want to support carpooling and transit initiatives because we think it's important to reduce vehicle emissions and the effects of climate change.

We want to support initiatives that reduce the use of pesticides and fertilizers in non-farm settings because we think it's important to improve the health status of Canadians.

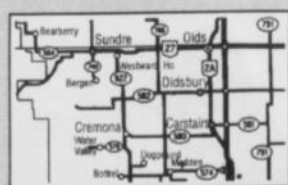

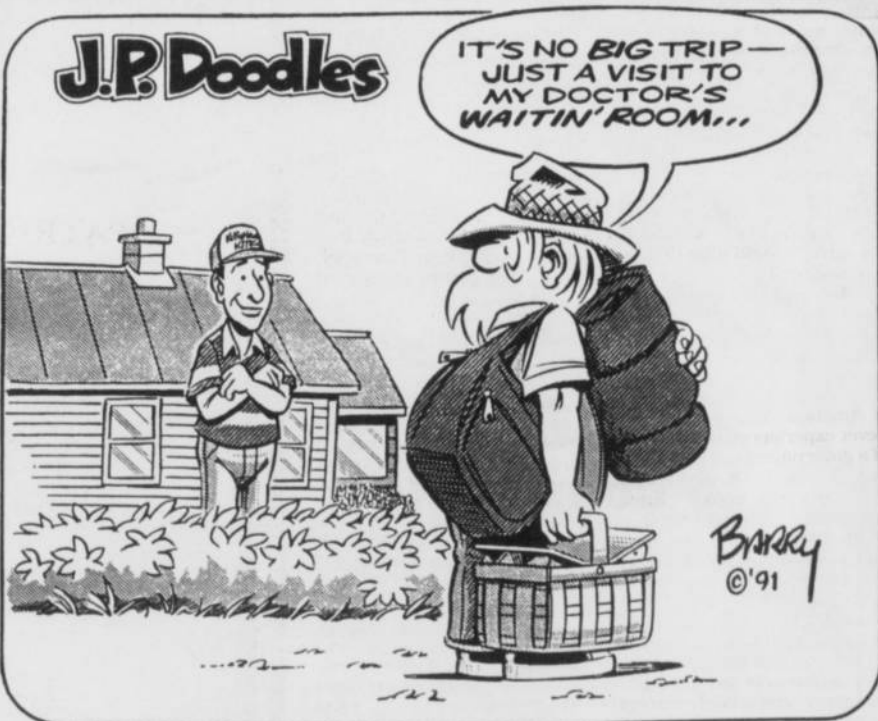

And my hope is that we can particularly give a boost to young Canadians in their efforts to improve the environment of their own communities. They'll have to do the work. They'll have to raise at least half the money. And I know they'll do that because it's obvious that young Canadians understand that the environment is the key to their future.

The program also includes a public awareness initiative to encourage Canadians to make choices in favor of the environment. We all need to build environmental considerations into our everyday activities and we all need to be participants in creating a healthy environment in our own communities.

Action 21 has an annual budget of $10 million provided from my department's existing resources.

Canadians want to play a role in finding the solutions to the environmental challenges we face. With the help of Ac-

Challenging the status quo

Dear Editor:

Are you having enough of Mr. Klein? I have.

First, there was Mr. Lougheed. He spent our tax dollars as if he was pouring water. I don't believe the full cost his playground in Kananaskis Country has ever been told. And, guess what? If you have ever been to the Kananaskis Country Golf Course you will know that you must book tee times approximately six months in advance, and pay an arm and a leg if you are lucky enough to play the course due to the high cost of green fees. The average golfer can't afford such luxuries. This course has been built for all of the big shots and, of course, the Conservative government that was in power under Mr. Lougheed. I feel this is just a lot of wasted money. And there is still excessive waste in keeping it going. The big joke is Mr. Klein never says a word about our costs every year for maintaining this playground. It is amazing how King Peter got away with all of these expenses.

Now we take a look at Mr. Don Getty. Didn't he do us a big deal? His big, monstrous house and acre after acre of land that our tax dollars purchased. Yes, he would say he used his personal funds to purchase all of this. He would be partly correct. He gave himself and his cabinet, a big pay raise - a lucrative pension. You may also note that some of his yes boys in cabinet made very sure that they gave their riding some very lucrative deals no matter what the cost to the average taxpayer of this province may be.

Now we have Mr. Klein. He is going to reduce our deficit. May I suggest this is a Conservative deficit and not ours - the taxpayer. Mr. Klein has cut funding to our schools and has made a disaster of our medicare. He has turned around and cut the medicare so badly that we have lost some of the very best doctors anywhere in Canada, and, in some cases, anywhere in the world. He has closed hospitals and hospital beds. You may die by the time you either see a doctor or get to a hospital these days. We all know the Conservative government built too many hospitals, but they were built in ridings that were held by yes men - Conservatives.

Going back to the cuts on medical staff; I live in Didsbury and we have one of the finest hospitals in Alberta. It is equipped with some of the best nursing staff and medical care that may be required for anyone in any condition. I know this from experience. I was taken to another hospital from an accident. I requested that I be taken to Didsbury instead. The doctors in Didsbury wasted no time. They had lab and X-ray personnel examine me to find out what I had injured. When they were satisfied, they loaded me and sent me to Calgary for surgery. I believe that I not only owe my life to these fine people in the Didsbury hospital, but I owe them many thanks and much gratitude.

Now, I do not owe Mr. Klein anything. In fact, take good note of the signature on the bottom of this letter because a normal, average person is speaking. What I am saying is that when Mr. Klein "pulls the pin" for the next provincial election, this name will be appearing in this riding and it will be supporting a Liberal member. Whether he or she wins or not is questionable, maybe, but I will do everything I can to make sure that this riding is not represented by another Conservative member. I would suggest the present Conservative member for this riding has done little here at home. What does he tell people in the constituency - "Oh, Mr. Klein has done this, and Mr. Klein has done that," and it is all at our expense of losing - yes, losing - doctors, nurses, physiotherapy departments, and giving the Workman's Compensation Board the authority to remove WCB patients from the hospital physiotherapy departments and placing them in the private sector physiotherapy clinics. I don't believe the private clinics can do a better job than the hospitals. And if they are not equipped in the same manner as the hospital physiotherapy departments, then they can't do as well. You do not need to be a mathematician or genius, to see the writing on the wall. Our province is not a free, democratic province in this country of ours as Mr. Klein is making it a dictatorship. He has made it so that anyone with an insurance policy, or covered by WCB, must go here, and cannot go there.

Is he also going to be issuing us passports if he is re-elected, so that if we wish to go to British Columbia for a holiday, we must have a passport to go there to spend some of our money? I ask you, doesn't Mr. Klein think it is time he started to look back at when he was a reporter with the TV news (mainly CFCN in Calgary). I knew Mr. Klein personally then. He was a gentleman, a scholar and one awfully hard worker. Today he has turned out to be a Robin Hood in disguise, but his type of Robin Hood is for the rich, taking from the poor. Mr. Klein should call another election to let the people of this province decide whether they really do like all of his cuts and all of the fringes that he and all of his cabinet, are getting. I, for one don't and I know many people, who have been Conservative since the Social Credit party was defeated in this province, who are questioning his manners, his actions and all his yes people in cabinet.

Mr. Klein should start making some changes for the better.
See Status quo page 23

A God-given right

Dear Editor:

We in western Canada are still waiting for the final version of the gun bill which will be presented to the Senate. After this appears it may be taken by the Alberta government to the Supreme Court of Canada. What hog wash! The British North America Act, which we treat in Canada as our constitution, clearly says that provinces have civil and property rights. Clearly! Even a lawyer could understand that. Why is it then that our "Justice Minister" of Alberta, Brian Evans, has not told the Liberal government to take a hike? Get Lost! Vamoos! Could it be that he plans on folding his cards? Could it be that he is a chicken?

"They that give up essential liberty to gain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety". Those are the words of Benjamin Franklin to the people of the United States of America. You and I have never experienced the horrors of a government out of control but if you read Alexander Solzhenitsyn's book, "Gulag Archipelago", you will see that when the secret police took someone from their home in the middle of the night he was quite happy to confess all the crimes of himself and his neighbors after a little torture. Of course that couldn't happen in Canada because our country would quickly run out of policemen. At present you may feel comfortable with our governments as I am sure the Russians and the Germans and the Americans did at one time. Things change sometimes quickly.

In the late 1700s, in England a famous lawman by the name of Sir William Blackstone said "the right of self defence is a God given right and is absolute and an inalienable right of every human being. It is the primary law of nature and as such can not be taken away by the laws of society". You and I have the God-given right to defend our homes, our lives, our province and our country if we wish. We can not depend on a group in Ottawa to do this for us. Until Kim Campbell passed her orders in council saying we could not have a loaded gun in our homes we had never head of "home invasions". Ask anyone in Calgary if they know what home invasions are. At one time people were safe on the streets of Vancouver, Edmonton and Calgary at night. Are you afraid to walk down the street in Calgary at night? No? How about your wife or daughter?

If you voted for Mr. Klein or even if you didn't how about phoning the Justice Minister, Brian Evans and refresh his memory about Section 92 of the B.N.A. Act. The number is 310-0000.

Three guilty pleas in shoplifting case

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Three of four women charged with an alleged shoplifting spree in Olds last week have pleaded guilty to the incident.

Rita Quewezance, age 25 of Calgary and two young women pleaded guilty to possession of stolen property which was discovered after RCMP pulled over their car after a complaint by a shop owner.

More than $1900 in stolen women's clothing was discovered in the car.

A fourth woman, also charged with possession, pleaded not guilty. Thirteen Severight, age 40, said she was not involved in the shoplifting and had not knowledge that the clothes were in the car. A second charge of breach of probation laid against Severight was dropped when it was discovered she was not on probation. Severight was released on $100 bail.

In sentencing Quewezance, the judge took into account the woman's poor financial position and her support of a two and a half year old son. He fined her $350 and gave her six months to pay or work off the fine. One of the young women waived her plea to Calgary where she will be sentenced and the second young woman was fined $250 for the possession and $100 for obstruction. A third charge of impersonation laid when the 17-year-old gave a false name to the RCMP when she was charged, was dropped.

CrimeStoppers

Didsbury RCMP are investigating vandalism over $1,000 to a parked vehicle on the Hildebrand Chev Olds lot on 10th Avenue in Carstairs. The 1989 Cutlass Supreme (red and silver) was parked in the south lot at Hildebrand Chev Olds Ltd. During the evening of September 2, 1995 (Saturday), unknown vandals kicked in the left fender and driver's door panel as well as the back fender. Damage was over $1,000.

Anyone with information on this crime is asked to call CrimeStoppers at 1-800-8477 (TIPS) toll-free. Callers remain anonymous and don't have to go to court. Tipsters are eligible for cash rewards of up to $2,000 for information leading to the arrest of those persons responsible.

RCMP report • Trick or treat message

It is that time of year again, for all the ghosts and goblins to take to the streets. Just a few reminders to make sure everyone has a safe and happy Halloween.

- Make sure your child's costume is visible to traffic.
- Carry a flashlight.

- If possible have a grown up go with the kids.

- Kids go in groups.
- Avoid dark alleys.
- Don't eat any unwrapped treats unless parents know the home from which it came from.
- Most of all use common sense.

Historical society holds annual meeting

by Elaine Wilson
Review writer

While they can't change history, the board and directors of Didsbury and District's Historical Society continue to work at preserving it.

"We have undergone many new changes with our display designs," society president Mel Dick reported in his address.

The main building upgrade in the past fiscal year was the sheeting and insulation project which replaced the windows in the war room.

Treasurer Sheila Fisher reported that after expenses, the bank balance (largely earmarked as "seed money" for a new boiler system), tallied $14,929.62.

Archivist Dale Weiss said progress in properly registering items in the care of the society (including pictures or drawings and a description of each item) is progressing on schedule. While the museum no longer has room to accept all items offered, Weiss expressed appreciation for all items donated to date and urge local residents to continue to keep the museum in mind when happening upon items that would enhance displays. Weiss said guidelines outlining tenable donations will be drawn up in the near future. He also advised that the museum embarked on a "bold an unusual step" in the past term in purchasing artifacts, specifically, items from Crystal Dairy. Advising that the museum had "more artifacts than we can possibly show at one time", he confirmed that rotating displays would continue to be a museum feature.

Attending on behalf of the town were councillors Gayle Veno and Gary Dolha. When only eight of the possible nine director positions were filled during the election process, Veno said she would convey the society's request to fill the slot with a council representative when she attended the upcoming Oct 24 town council organizational meeting.

It was agreed that the museum would hold an open house tea in the war room following wreath laying and accompanying formal observances held on Remembrance Day. Upcoming fundraisers were discussed as well, with further details to be announced as each event approaches.

The executive, returned to office by acclamation for the upcoming term, are: President-Mel Dick, Vice-President-Gord Fulton, Secretary-Willard Stauffer, Treasurer-Sheila Fisher, Past President-Terry Walls and Archivist-Dale Weiss.

Directors for the new term are: David Mohr, Susan Sloan, Sheryl Rothert, Marilyn Stauffer, Barney Rinehart, Margaret Weaver, Evelyn Adams and Harry Penner.

Before... and after. Mild mannered public speaker Robert Saik undergoes a speedy transformation before going on stage at a speaking engagement. In a matter of seconds, after donning a pair of overalls and his trademark fleece toque with earflaps, he becomes Steve Stubblejumpski. His most recent appearance added a humorous note to the Didsbury Agricultural Society's Appreciation night event. Approximately 180 turned out for the evening.

Reading hotline established

Special to the Review

The Alberta Association for Adult Literacy (AAAL) announces the opening of the Alberta Literacy Helpline. This free service is part of a provincial outreach effort to help prospective students and volunteers get in touch with programs available in their communities.

Statistics Canada estimates that there are over 400,000 Albertans, between the ages of 16 and 64, who could use help in upgrading their reading, writing or math skills. Many people want to upgrade, but they often do not know how to find the help they need.

According to literacy workers, people often feel they're the only one who can't read or write. Some have hidden it and kept it secret from family and friends for years. "If you take that first step of phoning somebody and finding you're not alone, it can begin the process of changing your life," said Elaine Cairns, spokeswoman for the association.

Reading skills are used everyday by everyone. We read bottles of medicine, road signs, memos, newspapers and computer screens. Even television ads use the printed word. Without basic skills, life can be confusing and frustrating. People with low skills have a difficult time dealing with the everyday tasks that others take for granted. Low literacy skills affect people's quality of life, economic growth, employment and health.

The more advanced our society becomes, the greater the need for basic skills. There are few jobs left that do not require good basic reading, writing and math skills. Employment and Immigration Canada reports suggest 40 percent of jobs will require post-secondary education by the year 2000.

The new Helpline service provides the first point of contact for prospective students, or for those interested in helping with literacy training in their communities. If the student needs additional support, the service will call the programs on the student's behalf.

The AAAL is a province-wide association of over 500 members. Members raised the money with partners from the corporate sector in order to realize this important initiative.

People in the business world have a stake in literacy. There are estimates that over $4 billion a year is lost in Canada each year because of low basic skills. Our partners include: Superior Propane, Alberta Energy, Southam Information and Magazine Group and Matsushita Electric of Canada.

Diamond wedding anniversary celebrated

Bessie and Cliff Eckstrand and family hosted a 60th wedding anniversary party, October 7, 1995 at the Didsbury Memorial Complex at 7 p.m. with a capacity crowd attending.

Eldest grandson Tony Foat of McKenzie, B.C. was chairman for the evening's entertainment. Congratulations from "The Queen", government officials were given by the former MLA for Olds-Didsbury, Bob Clark of Carstairs. Roy Brassard, now MLA was unable to attend. Greetings were brought from Knox United Church by trustee Chairman Walter Scheidt, Ken Jordon (Minister of Knox United Church) and former minister Rev. Doug Waite of Didsbury. Knox choir rendered several lovely selections, one about Cliff and Bessie, under the direction of Bernice Rule with Charlotte Rosenke at the piano. A duet, "Mansion Over the Hilltop" by Doreen McEwen and Cathie Dorey. Also a duet was rendered by Phyllis and John Foat from Cremona. A comical selection by Henry Kuelker (a scooter to go for coffee at Steve's Restaurant). George Tittsworth (cousin along with crowd) sang "Let me call you Sweetheart" and a piano selection. Senior C's Orchestra - Freda Shearer on piano, Joyce Williams on violin, Len Sverdahl on mandolin, Willard Franklin on drums, Walter Fisher on saxophone and groom Cliff Eckstrand on banjo, played for 15 minutes.

The 3 tiered wedding cake (made by bride) and decorated by Mrs. Audrey McDonald, top made by Dorothy Gillrie of Flowers n' Fun, was cut by the bride and groom and many pictures were taken of anniversary couple. Decorations were made by Pam and Lee Charles of bride and groom of white and black balloons. Large grey and pink and royal blue bells and streamers were colors chosen with lovely fresh and silk and dried flower arrangements. Ruth and Len Sverdahl and Audrey and Angus McDonald presided at the guest book.

Supper was served by friends Jean and Glen Eggans, Nancy Jeffies and Sharon James. For the crowds dancing pleasure, music was supplied by Walter Fisher's orchestra from Olds.

Bessie was born and raised in the area and Cliff was born in Minnesota, USA. They trucked and farmed in the south country and west of Carstairs and at the present live on their farm SW of Didsbury. They were married on Nov. 12, 1935 at Central United Church, Calgary. They raised two daughters, Cliff and Bessie have been members of the Westcott Knox United Church since 1947.

The chairman thanked everyone for coming and hoped everyone had a good time. Present for the occasion was their two daughters, Fern (Harley) Foat of Revelstoke, B.C., their son Tony (Wendy) and 2 children Lindsay and Wesley of McKenzie, B.C., Fern's daughter Connie (Todd) Wallace of Sicamous, B.C., Beverly (Gerald) Felker and their 3 sons, James (Marla) Felker and Dylan and Emily of Calgary, Allen (Lori) Felker and Monica of Nanaimo, B.C., Danny Felker and Mel Lehman of Didsbury. Also present, Cliff's brother Wilbur (acting best man as Carl passed away 2 years ago) and wife Melba. Cliff's sister Ruby of Medicine Hat was unable to attend. (Acting bridesmaid) Laura Dunlop of Bowden and husband Walter, Bessie's sister Helen Klink of Didsbury and 2 cousins from USA, George and Wanda Tittsworth of Wichita Kansas and 2 friends the Hartmans and Mary Ann and Dennis Lindsay of Birmingham, Alabama, Rena Owens of Carstairs, Rev. Sam and Ruby Sherman of Calgary, Ezra Dippel of Didsbury and numerous nephews and nieces and friends from Drumheller, Dawson Creek, Revelstoke, Medicine Hat, Calgary, Kioma, Airdrie and surrounding area.

Bessie and Cliff would like to thank everyone for coming to their 60th anniversary party and to anyone who helped in any way to make the evening so memorable.

Cliff and Bessie Eckstrand

ters, Fern and Beverly and took care of a number of kids from Didsbury. Both are quite well (after a few renovations) and Cliff's main interest has been his music - Senior C's Orchestra (1941-50s Melody Five) and going for coffee most mornings at Steve's Restaurant, mowing lawn and helping around the farm. Bessie likes her flowers, animal and horses and cats and dog, community, people, dancing and church work (including Thrift Shop), also writing some articles for the Review and the Southwest Didsbury

Stay safe on Halloween

When your little "monster" goes trick or treating on October 31, Stay Alert...Stay Safe (SASS) would like to remind parents and kids to turn up their radar and heed the words of Bert and Gert, the Alert Twins, to always "stay alert...and stay safe".

Here are some important safety tips from Stay Alert...Stay Safe, the national streetproofing organization founded in 1987 and funded through the generosity of the Canadian Tire Child Protection Foundation. Parents and kids should discuss these to ensure a safe and happy adventure on Halloween night.

Wear make-up instead of a mask so you can see properly.

Go trick or treating with family or friends. Let people know your route!

Ad adult should check the treats you collect before you eat them!

Walk - don't run, and look all ways before crossing the street - trick or treat on one side of the street, then the other side!

Only go to homes with their lights on!

Don't go anywhere with a stranger!

If someone invites you alone into a house say "No Thanks"!

A flashlight will help light your way!

You'll walk more easily in a short costume!!

Do you know where the Block Parent homes are in your area?

COOKING POWER SMART LOOKS GOOD ON THE ENVIRONMENT, YOUR WALLET AND YOUR TABLE.

October is Power Smart Month! And TransAlta Utilities has cooked up some Power Smart ways to help you save.

Using energy in a sensible, efficient manner is Power Smart. By working together, we can save energy, money, and the environment to give you a healthier, safer and more comfortable lifestyle.

BEING POWER SMART IS EASY

One of the easiest ways to reduce your electricity bill is to use products designed to use electricity more efficiently.

Here are a few Power Smart appliances for your kitchen:

- Microwave ovens are quicker and use less than half the energy of a conventional oven.
- Electric kettles use about 40 per cent less energy than boiling water on an electric range. Save even more if the kettle has a boil-and-simmer feature.
- Toaster/broiler ovens can do many of the cooking jobs of a conventional oven for about one-third of the electricity.

These are just a few of the many ways you can be Power Smart. For more ideas, head to your nearest participating appliance dealer. Or call TransAlta's Energy Matters hotline at 1-800-267-5300 for all your home and energy answers.

At the Kitchen Table

by Noreen Olson

When you live on a family farm you need all the help you can get. Occasional visitors might be asked to "run out and dig a few potatoes", "how are you at trimming hedges and cutting lawns?", "would you mind watering those geraniums?", "can you shut off the pump?". Regular visitors, like Ralph's brother Julien, really get into the hard stuff. He drives the grain truck, takes on major building and landscaping projects, builds and paints fences, plants trees, tiles bathrooms. He is more than a visitor really. He is a Godsend.

Our children grew up knowing that there is no "off season" on the farm. Calving leads into spring work and gardening which leads into spraying and haying which leads into harvest and fall work which leads into weaning and feeding which leads to calving...

There were, of course, some breaks in there, like Christmas and perhaps a picnic, so in an effort to put a little more recreation in our schedule we began to declare some farm holidays. We have, The Festival of the Calves, which falls about mid June and involves a lot of noise, mud and blood. The guest list for this is fairly large. My sister Donna, her husband Jack and their children, Lee and Kate are often present, our son Mark has never missed it and our daughter-in-law Dree and daughter Kirsten are usually here as well. For some reason the rest of the guest list changes from year to year. It has all the excitement of a Mexican Fiesta without the Mariachis Band and the Matador. The celebrants dress in their oldest clothes and events include, creek leaping, calf wrestling, fence climbing, noise tolerance tests and two or three other events that ladies may talk about but don't put in writing. Actually since Ralph and I have begun using those little rubber rings one of the more colorful events has been cancelled. This festival ends with a barbeque and one or two angry cows tramping through the yard because their children were sorted into a different pasture than they were.

The Pea Picking Party is a much more restful event that can involve even the less athletic members of the family and if conditions are right and a gentle breeze cools the covered porch, soft conversation and laughter prevails. Our children remember pea shelling time as some of the best conversations they had with their Grand-ma's. I don't think Auntie Marie has ever missed a Pea Shelling Party. There are usually three or four to a season. Light refreshments are served.

Potato Planting used to be a big event but with the kids all away from home we don't plant as many as we used to and so of course there are not as many to dig. Carrots are a big favorite in this family and we plant them with a seeder so we plant a lot and we use a lot, and that brings us to the Festival Of The Carrots.

This Festival is usually held on the last weekend in September and planned around the weather and the availability of a crew. First the carrots are hand dug and then they are trimmed just below the crown so that they will not begin to grow in storage. The carrots are hauled by wheelbarrow to a clean lawn where they are washed in warm water and spread to dry on the deck. When they are fully dried they are packed into plastic bags and put in storage.

While the outside crew is digging and washing the inside crew is preparing a meal that begins with roast beef (no vegetarians in this family) and then consists mostly of carrots in various forms. Johnny Applesseed thought apples were versatile, well they have nothing on carrots. Carrot soup begins the meal and it's delicious. Cooked carrots and rice are run through the blender and added to a milk base. The recipe is from Ralph's sister Alice. I make a carrot casserole that is so good that I have never taken it to a potluck without having at least two people ask for the recipe. There is cheese and onion and Ritz biscuits in it and that recipe came from Robbie Lentz who brought the dish to a Contemporary Graphics dinner. The Golden Glow salad has been made ahead from lemon Jello, pineapple and grated carrots. Recipe courtesy Auntie Georgia. Our daughter Kirsten makes the carrot pickles from a recipe we got from Nellie Davies. For dessert we have carrot pie, from my Mom's recipe and we like it better than pumpkin. If the cooking crew has been really industrious there may be carrot cake for later and we have had carrot sticks and dip in place of the carrot soup. We haven't done carrot juice yet but, one of these days. Steamed carrot pudding is not served at the Festival. It is served only at Christmas.

Attendance has been falling off at these farm based festivities. Do you suppose the participants have discovered that there is more work involved than there is recreation? Maybe we should extend the guest list? Maybe we should sell tickets?

times mystical event. This pattern is changing, more individuals and their families are sharing the death experience in the same home where they have shared their living experiences. One of the main goals of Palliative Care is to help individuals, with a terminal illness, live comfortably until they die and help the family live with them as they are dying.

What does Palliative Care mean? Palliative care offers compassionate care in a calm environment to those individuals for whom treatment aimed at cure and prolongation of life is no longer appropriate but for whom treatment aimed at improving the quality of remaining life is the primary objective. Palliative care offers therapeutic services designed to address the physical, social, psychological and spiritual needs of dying individuals and their families. The individual and family members direct the care rather than facility schedules and routines controlling normal client care.

This is Palliative care week. At one time or another we will all need to consider quality of life for ourselves or our loved ones. If you have any further questions about Palliative Care, call your local District Health Services.

Stolen vehicles

Didsbury RCMP confronted two incidents of vehicle theft, both of which occurred on Oct. 20., resulting in charges to three individuals. Contacted by a local Water Valley area resident describing a suspicious Cardinal bus in the area, RCMP investigation revealed the bus, valued at $45,000, had been stolen from Calgary on Thursday, Oct. 19. The accused was stopped at a road block one mile east of Water Valley and arrested without incident at approximately 1 p.m. Oct. 20. Scheduled to appear in court in Didsbury on Oct. 25, to answer to the charge of possession of stolen property over $5,000 is Murray Norman Richmond, 46, of no fixed address. At 2 a.m. on the same day Didsbury RCMP entered into a chase after attempting to stop a stolen three-ton with two stolen bobcats in Cremona. The chase ensued when the driver of the vehicle refused to stop. The chase lasted 40 minutes ending west of Cochrane. Police from Didsbury, Sundre and Cochrane were involved, as well as the CPS HAWKS helicopter. Scheduled to appear in Cochrane court on October 23 were Joseph Kshaniowski of no fixed address and Stafford Smith of Calgary, both 28 years of age. Both subjects were charged with counts of theft over $5,000 and possession of stolen property over $5,000.

Popping right along

Special to the Review

The 1st Didsbury Beavers, Cubs, Scouts and Venturers are currently taking orders for Trails-End Gourmet Popcorn for their Fall fundraising activity. Our campaign will run until November 6, 1995, with all popcorn orders being delivered during the first two weeks of December. All profits from the sale of the popcorn will be used to help finance the various youth activities.

Trails-End Gourmet Popcorn is only available through this Scouting sale. Popcorn is the fastest growing non-sweetened snack in the country, high in fibre and low in calories.

Please help support your local Beavers, Cubs, Scouts and Venturers when they come to your door. If you would like further information, please contact Donna McWhinney, Popcorn Coordinator at 335-8319.

Popping right along. The local Beavers, Cubs, Scouts and Venturers are venturing into a new fundraising area - popcorn sales. The campaign runs through to Nov. 6.

What's cooking?

Spoof Halloween spooks serve edible graveyard

An edible graveyard! Surprise your friendly ghosts and goblins this Halloween with this show-stopping dessert. The edible tombstones are sure to create a stir among young witches. Even young children can help make or decorate this unusual yet simple dessert. Then invite their friends in to share their creation. It will be great finale to any evening of trick or treating.

Readily available, easy-to-use ingredients like cookie crumbs, JELL-O Jelly Powder and cream cheese make this dessert easy to prepare. COOL WHIP Whipped Topping adds volume and a light taste to this delicious treat designed to feed a crowd.

Graveyard Treat

Prep time: 30 minutes
2 1/4 cups chocolate wafer cookie crumbs, divided
1/2 cup granulated sugar, divided
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
1 pkg (250 g) PHILADELPHIA Cream Cheese, softened
1 tub (1 L) COOL WHIP Whipped Topping, thawed

2 pkg (85 g each) JELL-O Orange Jelly Powder
2 cups boiling water
4 cups ice cubes

Decorations: Rectangular-shaped cookies, decorator icing, candy

Mix together 2 cups of the cookie crumbs, 1/4 cup sugar and butter; press firmly into 13x9-inch baking pan. Refrigerate.

Beat cream cheese and remaining sugar until smooth. Gently fold in 1/2 of the whipped topping. Spread evenly over crust.

Dissolve jelly powder in boiling water. Stir until completely dissolved. Add ice cubes. Stir until jelly thickens (3-5 minutes). Remove any unmelted ice. Spoon over cream cheese layer.

Refrigerate 30 minutes or until firm. Spread remaining whipped topping over jelly; sprinkle with remaining 1/4 cup cookie crumbs.

Decorate cookies with icing to make "tombstones" and stand on top of dessert with candies to resemble graveyard. Cut into squares.

Makes 15 to 18 servings.

90 year celebration for local

Special to the Review

September 16 and 17, 1995 brought together the family and friends of Fern Carlson and with great enthusiasm and response the celebration was attended with overwhelming success.

Gramma Carlson was born October 28, 1905 in Carstairs which was the closest town at the time to her parent's home, west of Cremona. She spent her first two years on the homestead, then the family moved to Didsbury where she spent her growing up years.

In 1924 she married Albin Carlson of Harmattan, spending the next 5 years working and helping on the farm. From there they moved to a bush farm at Westward Ho where they spent their next 39 years, farming and raising their four children. It was the favorite holiday spot of all the grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

In 1969 they retired from the farm and moved back to Didsbury, where she resides today. Losing her life-time partner of 58 years in 1982 she still lives in her same home, plants her own garden and flowers, still volunteers some at the hospital and enjoys it all.

All four children were home to celebrate her birthday, Leota Cummins of Edmonton, Edris Mabley of Duncan, B.C., Alice Ross of Valleyview, AB and Clarence Carlson of Toronto, Ont. Eight of 12 grandchildren, 14 of 18 great grandchildren and one great great grandchild were also present. All together over 60 family members had a lovely dinner together at Jimmy's Restaurant.

The celebration spilled over to Sunday which saw many more friends and family visiting.

Gramma, always being a cat lover all her life, brought about the theme of the party, "CATS", "CATS" and more "CATS". They were everywhere, all "90" of them.

Gramma's response to all this is:

"Thank you for the love and honor everyone bestowed on me. And thank you again to all my dear friends and family for making my '90' birthday such a memorable occasion."

Love To All

Five generations

For the second time within 50 years, the family of Fern Carlson has had five generations. The first five-generation group, original pioneers of Didsbury, consisted of: Sarah Franklin (great-great grandmother), Maggie Stauffer (great grandmother), Fern Carlson (grandmother), Leota Cummins (mother) and Colleen Cummins (baby). The current five-generation group (pictured at left) consists of: Fern Carlson of Didsbury (great-great grandmother), Alice Ross of Valleyview (great grandmother), Charlene Parslow of Carstairs (grandmother), and mother and baby Tracy and Chance Leil of Carstairs. All are enjoying good health and happiness.

a brief glimpse at the people and events in our community

Proof on the hoof

Esso service station for a refreshment break, were recently spotted enjoying Didsbury's sunny fall weather. The group get together every Sunday for a ride around town and beyond.

All fired up

Even though the annual open house event at the Didsbury Fire Hall happened to fall on a busy night, the hall was a beehive of activity on the evening of Oct. 11. While many were drawn to the candidates forum at the Memorial Complex, dozens of interested onlookers stopped in to check out a variety of displays and demonstrations put on by the crew. Pictured at left is Fire Prevention Officer Greg Hnatuik explaining safety precaution procedures using photographs compiled over the years. At right, firefighter and department secretary Jenni MacLean spoke to recruits, including a two-year-old possibility for the future: Lexi Clarke.

Ross Ford School's Superkids

Ross Ford School's teachers and administration proudly introduce this week's batch of Superkids. Students in each class are named Superkids to recognize hard work and contributions to the school. This week's Superkids are: Tara Faucher, Justin Enns, Karlene Lynn, Joey Edinger, Cole Scheidt, Kaitlyn Comer, Brittany Derksen, Justen Knudsen, William McCulloch, Brad Wirchenko, Randilee Fisher, Jennifer Bilbert, Bradley Dowell and Josee Croussette.

Dixie Crosbie Seniors' Health Fair

Student nurse Dixie Crosbie, and fellow student nurse Tambrey Cumberland were two of the participants at the annual Seniors Health Fair in Olds on Oct. 17. The fair, hosted jointly by several groups including Olds FCSS, Comcare, independent nurses and the David Thompson Health Region Unit, attracted a number of seniors. October is National Breast Health Month, and Crosbie and Cumberland have tentatively scheduled a breast self-examination clinic on Oct. 30 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Evergreen Centre. The demonstration will form a portion of their practicum, as part of their third year studies at Red Deer College. The duo hope to draw mother-daughter teams and seniors to the clinic. Other booths at the fair offer information and advice from local pharmacies, foot, eye, ear and nutrition specialists, home care nursing attendants and companies with product lines ranging from prosthetics to wheelchairs.

Karen Mengersen Sharing a prize of floral peace

"When I read that Canadian Living magazine was giving away 200 Dutch Tulip Celebration Gardens to [essay contest winners] who would plant them in public places, I thought of my friends here in Long Term Care," Karen Mengersen said, addressing the crowd packed into the Olds Hospital chapel Oct. 17. Mengersen, a hospital volunteer, drew extended applause from her "friends" including resident Lillian Hiscocks (pictured with Mengersen), who said there "weren't enough words" to describe how much Mengersen contributed to the lives of long term residents- and the feeling was obviously mutual. Before heading outside for the Celebration Garden planting ceremony, Mengersen concluded: "These tulips will bring beauty to the garden, but, hopefully, they will attract more visitors, who will take time not only to view tulips, but time to visit with the residents who have so much to share in the way of thoughts, experiences and memories." The garden will be cared for by volunteers from the horticulture program at Olds College.

Didsbury Bottle Depot celebrates anniversary

by Elaine Wilson
Review writer

The owners and staff of the Didsbury Bottle Depot will mark their first full year of operation on November 2.

Owners Perry and Barb Aarts and staffers Lynn Samoisette, Bibs Doyle and Matt Keating, have introduced a new product line and a new look since taking over operations last November. They now offer specialty bottled iced tea in two new flavors (raspberry and peach), along with a complete selection of Mister Soft Drink beverages and sparkling spring water. The depot is equipped to sell ice and mix in individual or party-sized quantities.

The completion of a covered sheltering enclosure at the entrance to the depot means no more unloading in the wind, rain or snow.

Located two blocks north of Fountain tire, (directly east of the Alberta Wheat Pool elevator), the bottle depot is one door south of the Lions Recycling Centre. Aarts and Samoisette agreed the proximity of the recycling centre is a boon for both parties who maintain an excellent association, directing customers back and forth as the situation dictates.

Customers who bring in non-refundable items such as out of province beverage containers (which the recycling centre will accept), are just a few steps away from their second stop.

In addition to accepting container deposit items (soft drinks, fruit drinks, fruit and vegetable juices, water, liquor, non-alcoholic beer, wine and coolers, import beer, and tea and coffee drinks), the bottle depot is also a drop off base for egg cartons. The egg cartons are re-sold locally for three cents apiece, and all profits are donated to STARS. To date, the depot has collected over $100 which they plan to present to STARS on the anniversary of their first year of operation.

"We're fast and efficient," Samoisette said, adding that customer "buzz" was uniformly positive.

The pace can be hectic on occasion, but Aarts, who entered the bottle recycling business after well over a decade of work in the oil patch, enjoys his work immensely.

"I enjoy meeting the people," Aarts said.

Hours of operation at the Didsbury Bottle Depot are: Tuesday through Friday- 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 to 5.

Tumbling canola. After the strong wind last Tuesday, October 10, 1995, instead of tumbling tumbleweed, Virgil Cipperly who lives 15 miles east of Didsbury was left with tumbling canola; in some places it had rolled over 100 ft. in the swath.

Seminar takes on beef challenges

Special to the Review

Although it's already renowned for its quality, Alberta beef must continue to maintain its quality and competitive edge in a demanding global food marketplace.

The challenges of building a world class beef industry will be discussed at a one-day seminar in Edmonton on Nov. 9 during Farmfair International.

"The speaker line-up features expertise from all aspects of the industry," said Elton Dunk, an Alberta Agriculture trade director and member of Farmfair's international committee.

Two of the speakers are from beef promotional organizations. Ted Haney is a director of the Canada Beef Export Federation, Ken Aylesworth is executive director of Canadian Beef Improvement. Respectively their mandates are export opportunities and genetic improvement.

Producers are also on the agenda. Bernie Kotenko is the owner of Highland Feeders, a large cattle feeding operation. Keith Porter is a purebred breeder. Bill Sturm is a commercial cattleman.

The buyer perspective includes the views of a Texas-based cattleman who buys Canadian beef cattle. Also sharing their views are John Simons, general manager of Cargill Foods--the most technically advanced beef processing plant in Canada--and entrepreneur and restaurateur Tom Goodchild who features Alberta beef at Sawmill Restaurants and the Hard Rock Cafe.

Basic registration is $50. This includes breakfast, lunch and coffee break. A VIP registration includes a reception with Walter Paszkowski, Alberta Agriculture, Food and Rural Development minister and a ticket to the Canadian Finals Rodeo. The registration deadline is Nov. 3.

For more information, contact Northlands Park at (403) 471-7129 or fax (403) 471-8176.

Main Street Beat

What are business revitalization zones (BRZs) and why do we have one here in downtown Didsbury? The local BRZ was formed in 1993 in response to a vote by the local downtown business community. The BRZ was legally formed by an act of the Town Council which passed a series of by-laws in accordance with the municipal legislation in effect at that time. The relevant legislation is now known as the Municipal Government Act or MGA).

The local downtown business community felt it desirable to form the BRZ in order to take more control of downtown's future and place that control in the hands of the people most affected - the downtown business people themselves. In some other localities a BRZ is known as a self-levying cooperative business organization. The self-levying description refers to the fact that these organizations are empowered by provincial legislation to charge and collect a levy to its own members, the proceeds of which are collected and utilized by the BRZ in order to enhance the environment for all its members. A BRZ is not a voluntary or optional club or association and the Town is obligated to charge and collect this levy from all member businesses. The general purpose of a BRZ is to enhance the downtown environment in order to improve business. Different BRZs may have specific goals that differ slightly but the intent is always the same - to improve our downtown business climate. The by-law that established the Didsbury downtown BRZ states that the purposes of the BRZ may include: promoting gle business can do. Van Dam is also excited about "the installation of streetscape amenities in conjunction with the Town's fixing of the sidewalks. We wouldn't have things like historic street lights or the future park benches and nice garbage receptacles. These amenities will help make Didsbury a unique place to visit and shop." Van Dam likens the BRZ to performing a service such as what shopping malls do for their businesses. He says "we have to take advantage of the things that the malls do well and combine it with our own unique features such as personal service from owner-operators." Bev from Bev's Country Deli on 19th Avenue also appreciates what the BRZ can and has done for downtown. She would like to see more of "the historic elements like street lights" and she believes that "they (the BRZ) are on the right track and we will be seeing more customers." The Board of the BRZ meets once a month and anyone may attend these meetings. See the ad in the Review's classifieds for time and place of the next BRZ meeting. Get involved and help support your BRZ. For more information about the BRZ or the Main Street Project contact the Main Street Office at 335-3265 or come down and visit at 2009-20th Avenue.

DAVID MOHR

Didsbury Main Street Coordinator

the area as a shopping or business area; acquire any land necessary for the BRZ's purposes and improve or beautify that property; improve, maintain and beautify municipally owned lands, buildings and structures in the zone, to improve, maintain and use acquired land for parking; to dispose of acquired land at fair market value for public or private redevelopment; and to conduct any studies or prepare any designs necessary for these purposes. The BRZ is here to serve its members and its Board is made up of business people and member of Council (also a downtown business person) Vance van Dam. Councillor van Dam believes that the BRZ is valuable as it provides a method that local downtown businesses can perform joint advertising with a "broader scope and with more cost-effectiveness" than a sin-

ALBERTA AGRICULTURE, FOOD AND RURAL DEVELOPMENT

Regional Advisory Services

by Greg Urichuk
Crop Production Specialist

As many of you may have seen this summer, Alberta Agriculture and the Alberta Barley Commission had many co-operative trials throughout the Central Region. The Drumheller plot location was 4 miles north on Highway #9 next to the Munson Cemetery.

The following article deals with a brief run down of what was done and some of the results we saw over the summer and fall.

Plots were seeded on May 29/95 with the M.D. of Starland's Concord Air Drill. This drill is an 8½ foot mini-air drill which is a small scale model of their larger field scale models. Throughout the spring, problems did occur with the drill but for these barley plots, it seemed to work okay.

Seed was placed in a single shoot system with 120 lbs. of a 34-17 blend, compliments of Drumheller Co-op. This was 120 lbs. of product which works out to approximately 40 lbs. of actual N. The barley plots were seeded at 75 lbs./acre.

Germination was excellent with all plots since seeding was done at a depth of about 1.5" into a warm, moist seedbed. Eight varieties were tested and yield samples were taken in September just before harvest.

The following is a list of varieties and yields from the demonstration:

Robust	6 row Malt Barley	98 bu/acre
B 1215	6 row Malt Barley	61 bu/acre
Harrington	2 row Malt Barley	64 bu/acre
Stein	2 row Malt Barley	57 bu/acre
Falcon	6 row Hulled Barley	41 bu/acre
Phoenix	2 row Hulled Barley	52 bu/acre
AC Lacombe	6 row Feed Barley	63 bu/acre
Brier	6 row Feed Barley	80 bu/acre

A few points to remember here. Hulled varieties are supposed to weigh up like wheat so with an average bushel weight of 60 lbs., yields would be much higher for those 2 varieties. A few varieties were newly registered this year and not much seed supply was available, so next spring may be a different story.

Even though there are many other factors to take into account as far as producing barley goes, the key is still yield. These plots were only there for a demo purpose and the yield results were an average yield taken from the plot.

If you do have any questions feel free to call me at 823-1675 or contact your local Alberta Agriculture Crop Production Specialist.

Local News: Plan on attending our Farm Shift - A Family Farm Succession Planning Course - 6 Tuesday evenings, starting November 28, 1995. For more information, call the District Office of Alberta Agriculture at 556-4220.

THERE'S NO ALTERNATIVE TO CONCRETE

Concrete is the basement building material with all the advantages.

It's a proven performer, Rugged Tough, Durable. A concrete basement will never burn or rot.

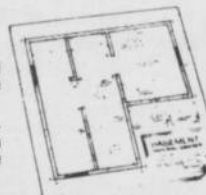

And concrete is safe. Quality-controlled, concrete needs no toxic chemicals which may be hazardous to building occupants.

Concrete is an energy-wise choice. A concrete basement needs little heat or air-conditioning. And concrete walls are easily insulated.

Economically, concrete is a good investment. A concrete basement will add years of life to the foundation and considerable dollars to the resale value of your building.

Add up the advantages. There's simply no alternative to quality controlled concrete. The best basement building material.

Local students given opportunity to study abroad

Special to the Review

Qualified high school students are offered a unique opportunity to spend an academic year or summer holiday in Scandinavia, Germany, France, Switzerland, Britain, Holland, Spain, Portugal, the Czech and the Slovak Republics, Poland, Mexico, Brazil, Japan, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand or the United States as part of the ASSE International Student Exchange Program, said Karen Kampen, Mountain Coordinator for ASSE-Canada.

"Until a few years ago, only a fortunate few could afford to spend a school year or summer abroad. Now, ASSE has changed all that," said Kampen.

Students, 15 to 18 years of age, qualify on the basis of academic performance, character references and a genuine desire to experience life in another country with a volunteer host family in Europe, Japan, Thailand, Mexico, Brazil, Australia, New Zealand or the United States.

"ASSE host families are carefully screened to provide a caring environment in which a student can learn the language and the culture of the host country," added Kampen. Summer exchange students usually live with a family who speaks some English. Having a foreign language is not necessary as the students receive language and cultural instruction as part of the ASSE program. ASSE students attend the regular high school classes along with their new teenage friends. "ASSE students learn by living the language and the culture of their new host country," explained Kampen.

The non-profit, public benefit ASSE International Student Exchange Program is affiliated with Finnish Ministries of Education, is approved by the Australian and New Zealand Departments of Education and works in cooperation with the Provincial and Territorial Ministries of Education in Canada.

ASSE also provides opportunities for Canadian families to host a student from another country and culture. With ready assistance from local area representatives, Canadian host families can experience a new adventure by adding an ASSE exchange student to their daily family living. "This is an excellent way for a family to become aware of other cultures and countries and a wonderful means of enriching the lives of the children in the family with a new brother or sister from a country they may only read about in school", said Kampen.

Students or families interested in receiving more information about the ASSE program should contact: Tilly Meuwissen, 30 Southridge Cr., Box 215, Didsbury, AB T0M 0W0 403/262-2844 or call ASSE-Canada: 1-800-361-3214 (toll free).

840 - OBITUARY

JACOBSEN: Linden Andrew Morton passed away at the Didsbury M.V.H.C.C. on October 12, 1995. Linden was born April 29, 1916 in the Westcott area and was confirmed May 11, 1930 at Westcott Lutheran Church. Linden is survived by his loving wife of 59 years - Vi and one son, Duane, grandchildren Donald and Yvonne Jacobsen and great grandchildren Ashley and Desiree all of Vernon, B.C. Linden was predeceased by his sister Avril, his father Walter John and his mother Ida Louise Jacobsen (Eggen). Linden was not only born in the Westcott area, he attended the Westcott School. As well as farming and raising cattle Linden worked at the Didsbury Auction Mart from 1963 to May 1980. Friends of the area called this man "Jake" and he was noted by his black cowboy hat and his friends knew better than to touch it. Linden will be sadly missed by his wife, Vi, his family, relatives and many friends in the Westcott and Didsbury areas. Funeral services were held on Wednesday, October 18, 1995 at 2:30 p.m. from the Didsbury Redeemer Lutheran Church with Pastor Robert Mohs officiating. Interment followed in the Westcott Cemetery. Following the service coffee was served by the Westcott W.I. at the Westcott Hall. In lieu of flowers, if friends desire, memorial tributes may be given to the STARS Air Ambulance or the Didsbury Redeemer Lutheran Church. Mountain View Funeral Chapels, Didsbury, entrusted with arrangements. 28-11c

Kiwanis festival launches fundraising drive

by Mary Hays
Special to the Review

The Olds and District

Kiwanis Festival of the Performing Arts continues to be a success. Last year they attracted over 900 entries in the following categories: Bands, Instrumentals, Speech Arts Solos, Choral Speech, Vocal Solos, Choirs, Musical Theatre, Piano and Strings, representing over 4,000 individual performances. They attract performers from Olds and the surrounding communities of Airdrie, Crossfield, Cremona, Carstairs, Didsbury, Sundre, Bowden, Innisfail and Three Hills.

The festival provides performers with an opportunity to:

- perform for qualified adjudicators
- receive instruction
- perform for an audience
- observe and listen to other performers
- reaffirm ideas and gain new information
- become encouraged and stimulated toward further personal growth.

The festival is a massive undertaking to coordinate and fund. The challenge is becoming even greater as government support disappears. Needed are more than $24,000 for awards ($25, $50 and $100 awards are given), adjudicators, printing and other operating expenses.

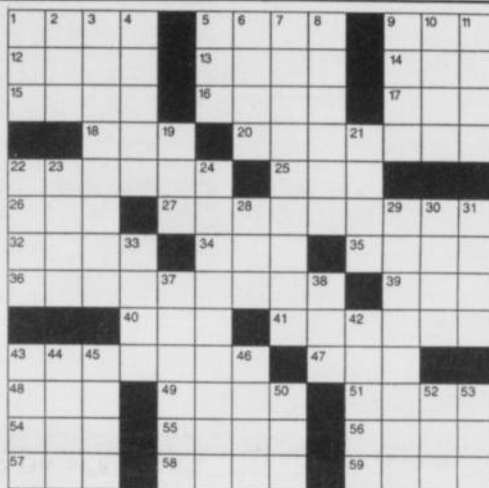

Donations of any size are appreciated. Each donor receives acknowledgement in our Grand Concert Program and a receipt from the Kiwanis Music Festival Society.

You can contribute now by mailing your donation to the Kiwanis Music Festival Society at Box 3934, Olds.

Better Choices

It's heartbreaking to see a little child missing out on fun and confidence because of obesity. Very often, an overweight child has a "sweet tooth". To tell them candy is fattening can cause embarrassment or force them to sneak treats. Consider cutting down on how often you buy or prepare sweets. Then, make sure nutritious goodies are always available -- fruits, unbuttered popcorn, frozen juice cubes, low-fat yogurt and cereal nuggets. Suggest that relatives and friends bring non-food treats such as stickers or small toys. And keep your children active!

Status quo

ter. Yes - the deficit must be paid - but don't take it from the mentally handicapped, the old and the poor. Start taking it from some of the rich. This statement - that he would look after the poor if he was to be elected - he had made in the St. Louis Hotel in Calgary, if I remember correctly. Well, let me tell you, it is a sad state of affairs when privately owned restaurants throughout this province spend hundreds and hundreds of dollars every year at Thanksgiving and Christmas to have their staff come in and feed so many of the poor. I wonder if Mr. Klein has ever gone to one of these? I doubt it.

Once again, pay good attention to the name on the bottom of this letter because I will be opposing his member in this constituency and possibly other constituencies.

I wish Mr. Klein no bad luck, but I don't wish him any good luck in the upcoming election that he is going to have to call.

Yours truly,
R.J. Stroub

Steps urged to elevate escalator safety

by Elaine Wilson
Review writer

After witnessing the tragic ordeal of a toddler whose fingers were caught and pierced by the pointed teeth of an escalator step, and learning of a second similar incident, also in Calgary only days afterward, Carol Natyshen knows how potentially dangerous these moving stairs can be.

The escalator involved in the incident Natyshen witnessed is located at the Calgary Deerfoot Mall. The accident occurred a little over one month ago.

A two-year-old girl who broke free from her mother's grasp fell at the base of the escalator. Natyshen, only a few feet away heard the child's terrified screams, but like others in the immediate area, was powerless to help.

Within minutes a mall worker was on the scene, but two fruitless efforts to reverse the direction of the escalator only served to further jam the child's finger more deeply into the sharp edges of the step. The mall staffer stepped back with the others gathered near the child, awaiting the arrival of emergency crews. A section of the steps was cut out around the child's entangled flesh with steel cutters. The metal step portion which pierced the child's fingers remained embedded until the child reached the emergency hospital unit.

The little girl was heroically calm during most of the ordeal, but Natyshen said the entire episode need never have happened.

While she agrees that parents of children should hold a child's hand when riding an escalator, loose laces or an untimely fall could spell serious misfortune for toddlers. She is lobbying for changes to the design of escalators, proposing that smooth plastic step edge pieces be substituted for the current sharp-edged steel now used, and would also like to see better signage with instructions to encourage uniform use of handrails.

Rural residents who travel to the city appear to be more cautious than city dwellers to Natyshen who said city residents are "so used" to escalators they have become somewhat blasé.

"Something needs to be done," Natyshen said, adding that she hoped the incident would not simply be forgotten without action being taken.

Safety sought. Area resident Carol Natyshen hopes that safety conscious designers will keep younger children in mind when drafting or revamping future escalator design.

Grizzlys cling to first place

by Robert Magee
Special to the Review

It's like a record that just won't stop skipping. The Grizzlys win again...The Grizzlys win again...The Grizzlys win again...Ladies and gentlemen, the Olds Grizzlys are in a groove. In the past week they played four games, the last three being road games.

On the night of Tuesday, Oct. 17th the Grizzlys doubled up on the 9-7-2 Calgary Canucks by a 5-3 score. Jeramie Heistad led the way with two goals, while Paul Fioroni and Tomas Zelenka followed up with two assists each. The league's number one goaltender Stephan Wagner started in net and stopped 30 out of 33 shots, good enough for his 7th win of the season.

The following night Olds travelled to Bow Valley and faced off against the Eagles. With back-up goaltender Aaron Baker starting in place of Stephan Wagner the Grizzlys found themselves trailing 2-0 after the first. However, head coach, Cliff Murphy must have inspired his team in a positive way as they came out scoring, firing 3 goals in each of the next two periods. Luke Gergel had a goal and a couple of assists, just four out of his impressive eight points in that last week.

The Grizzlys win streak temporarily came to a halt on last Friday as they lost a heart breaker to the Fort Saskatchewan Traders in a 3-2 shoot out loss. The only bright side to the game was Dan Heilman's three points (one goal, two assists) all of which came in the third period.

And to close out the week the Grizzlys travelled back to Bow Valley in hopes of a win to stay ahead of the St. Albert Saints for first place. With goalie Aaron Baker getting the win last time against the Eagles, Cliff Murphy hoped he would repeat his heroics. He did just that. In fact the Grizzlys won by the exact same score, 6-5 and Baker made only one less save for his second win of the week and the Grizzlys third. Luke Gergel again racked up three points and is currently in 3rd in the scoring race with 14 goals, nine assists and 23 points in just 13 games. Now the impressive part comes. In the goaltenders standings all throughout Canada, Stephan Wagner is currently number one with a 1.71 goals against average. He has a 7-0-1 record, with the shut out loss coming just two games ago.

The Grizzlys return home this week for a game on Tuesday, Oct. 24th against the Calgary Canucks and then hit the road for one game as the play against the second best team, the St. Albert Saints on Saturday night.

Volleyball at Ross Ford. The fall session is full but you can sign up for spring, Wednesday nights at 7 p.m., 2 hours, $10/10 sessions, equipment supplied.

Cremona minor hockey and ringette

by Ryan Robertson
Special to the Review

The past weekend provided everyone concerned with their initial taste of hockey for this season with a full slate of exhibition games. The desire was certainly there as Cremona jumped back into harness after the summer lay-off.

In dynamite action, Team #1 played Team #2 and the result provided a very close game in which the ice time these youngsters have already received in their early lives, is very noticeable. Coaching team 1 are Bob Wigton and Eric Johnston. Team 2 coaching staff includes Gord Fike, Rob Hamilton and Al Graham. With the future of our association starting at this point, it is encouraging to know good people are there to start the kids off on the right foot.

The Novice team played a strong game against Cochrane and would go on to defeat them 8-2. Good team play would initiate the end result. Cremona's defensive corps would do well backstopped by Goalie Colin Ryan and the offense with many of last year's league champions certainly not having lost their touch around the goal. This year's team will be coached by Darryl Cummings and Ronald Elliott.

The Pee Wee's played a strong game and came away on top of Olds 8-5 in a game played on Saturday as well. Their passing game was hot and defensively they were sound in the very entertaining contest. In many ways the way in which the game was played made you have to pinch yourself to realize this was only the first game and not mid-season form, as both teams played hard. Coaches are Sam Lumley, Gary Payne and Kevin Ryan.

On Sunday the Atoms would play Carstairs and be victorious 7-2. Good goaltending by Jesse Novak and a hat trick fired by Chris Bogart were two key points in a strong team performance. This year coaching the squad are John Lashmore, Bryce Conrad and Nick Kinch.

Carstairs hosted a referee clinic on the weekend. Locally, Lance McKinnon obtained Class 2 and Nathan Ryan and Aaron Robertson earned Class 1.

DHS volleyball update

Special to the Review

The Boys and Girls Intermediate volleyball teams participated in the annual Dragons Intermediate Volleyball Tournament on Saturday, October 21st. On hand were teams from Banff, High River, Cochrane, Chestermere, Carstairs, Crossfield and Olds.

The Didsbury girls played well and were tied for first after the round robin portion of the tournament. They ended up in the finals against an equally strong Chestermere team. The girls took the best of three final to three games but came away with second place after a 16-14 loss in the final game.

The Didsbury boys also had a strong tournament placing second in the round robin. In the final they played Cochrane and managed to win the first game with a very determined effort. However Cochrane fought back and were able to take the next two games and first place honors.

Both teams continue their tournament play with games this weekend in Red Deer. We look forward to seeing everyone at the Dragons Invitational Senior Volleyball Tournament on October 28th.
